

Online Tutoring and Proctoring

Learning Unlimited Program

Need a little extra help with one of your online courses?

We offer an exciting program that offers tutoring AND proctoring services to our online students. You can meet with one of our Learning Unlimited coaches at a local public library in Indianapolis and surrounding areas to get some extra help with one of your courses. If for whatever reason you cannot make it to a local library, Learning Unlimited offers VIRTUAL tutoring/proctoring services as well! Take advantage of this great program and get the help you need to be successful this semester with Learning Unlimited. Contact Adam today at (765)318-9368.

Virtual proctoring/tutoring is completed via the Blackboard Collaborate Web Conferencing System. This system is not supported for use on Chromebooks or the Chrome OS. Students using Chromebooks or the Chrome OS will need to make alternate arrangements to take part in Learning Unlimited's virtual services.

Learning Unlimited is an exciting program partnering local public libraries and distance education courses offered by Vincennes University.

Instead of the typical distance education classes where you work alone from home, Learning Unlimited creates a unique community learning environment at your local public library where you can meet with fellow students, speak with reference librarians for help on research and library resources, and navigate your college degree with the help of the Learning Unlimited Coach and Coordinator.

Learning Unlimited also offers online tutoring and test proctoring. Tutors and proctors are available Monday through Friday, all year long. Please contact Learning Unlimited Coordinator, Adam McKinley at amckinley@vinu.edu for more information.

Learning Unlimited follows the same tuition rates as our Distance Education program.
